

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 2006

Make a Statement

As you can probably tell by now, I love jewelry. Making it, wearing it, giving it as gifts. And, since we are quickly entering the holiday gift giving season, I thought this would be the perfect time to feature the personalized hand crafted jewelry designs of Alli Grosberg of Alli's Originals. Delicate, elegant and totally feminine, Alli hand stamps (not laser engraves) each piece to create the ultimate statement piece of a life well lived. For a mother, I think these pieces are such a fresh alternative to the traditional baby charms that I see at every major department store. (You know the ones your grandmother wears!). Each mini tag is individually hand-stamped and lettered with a single initial or name and would be such an amazing unique gift for that special mother (or friend or sister or aunt). For a funky alternative, you can make your own statement using these miniature "dog tags," rings or bars. Words or symbols that hold special meaning to you can be hand stamped onto the various tags and would look really cool layered on different length chains. With most pieces priced at around $30, it won't break the bank either. Making a statement with your jewelry has never been easier or held more meaning. See more of her line at www.allisoriginals.com.

POSTED BY ELLEABELLE AT 6:00 PM 0 COMMENTS

LABELS: JEWELRY
